TELLS OF RICHES IN LA SAL MOUNTAINS

A. M. Rogers Describes Geology of Mineral Region Which Is Full of Promise for the Future.

In his usual graphic manner of description, A. M. Rogers, a geologist of Moab, describes the La Sal mountains and also has considerable to say of the geology of that section in the Christmas edition of the Grand Valley Times. For a paper published 35 miles from the railroad The Times does itself proud in cuts and typographical work. n the edition Mr. Rogers has the graphical work.

In the edition Mr. Rogers has the following to say:

The La Sal mountains, geologically considered, present the most surprising and inviting field to the prospector, the miner and investor of any like area in the United States.

This group comprises fourteen prominent peaks, ranging from 10,000 to about 14,000 feet altitude and numerous lesser ones, all of which are composed mainly of the various igneous rocks of the porphyry family, chiefly of diorite and rhyolite, with numerous ribs of andesite and basite and occasional beds of monzonite. In a few places may be found domes of granitic porphyry, showing that the upheaval which formed this range came from great depth, as the surrounding sedimentary formation where exposed by crosion is of great thickness. The permian sandstones, towerless and investigated.

where exposed by erosion is of great thickness. The permian sandstones, jurassic and jura-trias beds, for instance, show a thickness of over 800 feet and the pliocene and miocene beds are of unusual thickness as com-pared with those formations along the continental divide and adjacent the continental divide and adjacent thereto. Those immense igneous mountains in forcing their way through the thick sedimentary beds, have caused great displacement in the latter, and in places have carried up with them large bodies of the sedimentary, which appear like iskniks of metamorphosed sandstones and dolomitic limestones and occasional beds of carboniferous and argillaceous shales.

IMMENSE VEINS.

In nearly every case where dolomite is found associated with the igneous is found associated with the igneous formations, where it was carried upward by the upheaval it is accompanied by a dike or rib of mineralized andesite, which is usually much richer in feldspathic properties than of the siliceous. These dikes generally constitute what are locally termed locally and are generally of immense stitute what are locally termed lodes or veins and are generally of immense size and consequently of rather low grade in values. Particularly is this true where the low values are of gold. A noticeable condition of these gold-bearing veins is that in most cases the values are accompanied by telluric bases, fluorite and sylvanite, with occasional bunches or pockets of petzite and calayerite.

and calaverite. The gold-bearing veins are not confined to any particular area or district of the La Sal group, but are found on every mountain side and every gulch. Owing, however, to the average low rade of the ore, the inaccessibility and dearth of transportation facilities, the development has been greatly re-tarded, but a few of the determined prospectors have held on with a bulldog tenacity and are beginning to show to the world that the La Sal moun-tains contain a greater amount of from $10 to $30 cyaniding gold rock than can be found in any like area in the world.

NOT ONLY TREASURE.

Nor is gold her only treasure. Numerous veins of large size and wonderfully high grade copper properties are only awaiting transportation and treatment to show that there is a competitor in the field that will equal if not excel Butte, Anáconda, Bingham and all the other red metal producers in the country.

The most distinguishing and for many years the most puzzling feature of the La Sal region was the immense quantity of what was locally known as the "ribbon quartz" placer deposits as the "Hibbon quartz" placer deposits surrounding these mountains. Fab-alously rich placer dirt of disinte-grated quartz has been known for years to surround the La Sals. Recent development work has proven beyond all question that this was all question that this was but the croded selvage of positively three and probably five blanket veins of this material, which is in reality a porphyritic quartz in the form of immense intercalated sheets, some of which are demonstrated to be over 30 feet in thickness. These are probably enriched by the percolation of auriferously impregnated thermal waters during the formative period of waters during the formative period of these mountains.

Much more, in fact volumes, might be written about the wonderful resources of the La Sals, and the preface of the story not then be fould. It will take generations of intelligently directed labor to demonstrate and continues to exhaust their treasures. centuries to exhaust their treasures.

WILL START WORK ON UTAH SULPHUR BEDS

Deposits in San Rafael Mountains to Be Put to Commercial Use By March First.

For a number of years it has been known that valuable sulphur mines exist in the southern part of the state. On account of the distance from the railroad these have never been worked. Philadelphia people have taken quits an interest in the good sulphur prospects of the state, and, according to the latest news from the east, they will begin operations next year. The following is from the Green River Dispatch relative to the sulphur business:

The Dispatch is reliably informed from inside sources that the San Rafael Chemical Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., represented by F. S. Pusey, proposes to begin active development of its vast sulphur deposits in the San Rafael mountains west of our city not later than February or March 1911.

George W. Heintz, general manager of the United States Smelting, Refin ing and Mining interests in Sait Lake, is expected to return from California about the middle of next week.

According to a special message over Poliock & Co.'s private wire, the estimated copper output of Butte for the month of December is 22,564,125 pounds, which is quite a decrease from November, which was 23,636,550 pounds.

The Mammoth mine at Tintic is now nearing the ore bodies in the San Pedro claim, which is owned jointly by the Gold Chain and the Mammoth. It is in this claim that the Gold Chain is finding a large amount of its rich ore.

The Ely Resurrection company has just finished its assessment work on the unpatented claims of the company in the Robinson mining district according to the affidavit filed at Ely by Geo. W. Lynch. This company owns 22 claims northeast of Ely.

Supt. E. C. Coffin of the Lower Mammoth mine has started work on the tunnel level to get the ore encountered on the 200 level at the mine. As there is only 100 feet difference between the two levels, it is believed certain that ore will be found on this level.

For the week ending Dec 29, the ex-For the week ending Dec 29, the exports of copper amounted to 5,570 tons, an increase of 1,240 tons. This brings the exports of the month up to 28,790, an increase of 2,795 tons. The exports thus far for the year have amounted to 295,501 or a decrease of 4,924 tons for 1910 as compared with 1909.

The same plan as Is now in practise in the Copper Producers' association will be followed. Some idea will then be gleaned of the condition of the market and the surplus dition of the market and the surplus.

The electric power from the Knight Power plant near Heber was yesterday hooked up with the machinery of the Utah Mines Coulition. This does away Utah Mines Coalition. This does away with the steam power that the company has had in use since it started work some two years ago. By the use of the new method of power, costs at the property in this regard will be cut down 50 per cent. NEW GAME LICENSES.

State Game Commissioner: Fred W. hambers announced this afternoon that the 1911 game license will be ready to issue tomorrow, Saturday. The li-cense costs a resident of Utah $1.25 and entitles him to procure all kinds of game in accordance with the game laws. Unlike Idaho and several other states, Utah has but one license; other states have a license to fish, another for big game and in some cases even a third, all costing different amounts.

New York, Dec. 30,-The stock market showed a further rising tendency at the opening today. Union Pacific, Reading and several other standard stocks made substantial fractional gains, and United States Steel, in which dealings were especially large, advanced to it. In the group of specialties American Car & Foundry gained 1 point. There were a few nominal declines. Trading showed more vim than usual in the early dealings and the market advanced resolutely with the shorts free buyers. After this demand had been satisfied to some extent business fell off and there was a fractional reaction. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

business fell off and there was a fractional reaction. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Top prices showed advances of 12 in St. Louis-Southwestern preferred and 1 in Reading, Rock Island preferred, Wabasin preferred, American Car and Pressed Steel Car. Offerings were so weil absorbed that prices sold up to a net advance of some 3 to 7 points before the chd of the first hour.

Recent buyers figured the market was ripe for a setback after yesterday's rise and today's early improvement and sold the list generally with moderate effect. A 6 per cent call money rate dampened busish activity, while indications of reinvestment buying of securities modified the professional selling. A jump in Reading to 152 towards noon stiffened the whole market again but there was no material increase in the volume of business.

Bounds were firm.

Buying of stocks failed to hold the market. The list receded until it ruled about midway between the highest and lowest of the morning. The strength of call money and the fact that loans carried over until Tuesday restricted business senerally. Rock Island stocks were strong on the November carnings statument, the road making the best showing thus far of any of the large systems. American Can stocks were unusually active and higher, the preferred stock advancing 12.

Transactions dwindled steadily and tive and higher, the preferred stock advancing 15.

Transactions dwindled steadily and floor traders showed much indifference to the action of the market. A few orders that were executed were mostly at unchanged prices and the speculation took on its familiar holiday air.

The market closed heavy. The room traders sold stocks again towards the close of the day and trading became neavier with prices relapsing to yesterday's final levels or below. Union Facific, Reading and United States Steel headed the downward movement but there was also more selling of the copper stocks.

PRODUCE.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Liberal shipments of wheat reported today from India, Australia and Argentine took the edge off buying enthusiasm here. However, a moiterate demand developed at a small decline below last night's figures. Private estimates of the Argentine surplus were a little more builish and there was a decided disposition shown to keep away from the short side of the market, motives for caution in this respect being foreign purchases and also the large holdings of the bir buill houses. The fact was noted, too, that local stocks were decreasing. Prices opened a shade to 1 lower with May at 37 to 574, showing the same variation as the market as a whole. Later there was a rally to 374.

Talk of general rains in Argentina eased corn but purchases by the same firms that were buyers yesterday braced the market up. May started a shade to 1 down at 484 to 482 64, and reacted to 485.

Oats were more steady than either corn or wheat. May opened a shade up to a shade off at 344 to 341 and sold at 3446.

Provisions were higher with hogs, but trade was scattered and light. First sales were a shade to 15c, up, with May options at 18,70 to 18,75 for pork; 19,174 to 10,29 for lard, and 9.50 for ribs.

Wheat-Assertlons that the government had overestimated the apring wheat erop led to increased firmness but profit-taking and predictions of heavy world's shipments caused a sudden decline. The close was easy, g net lower, at 984. CHICAGO.

TELLS OF CONFESSION.

Austrian Says Racczich Admitted Killing Younger Placs.

Most important of the developments in the murder trial of Trefa Racezich Thursday afternoon was the labored testimony of John Placs, god-father of Mike Placs, whom Racezich has admit-ted killing. The senior Placs is the man who located Racezich at Lakeside, man who located Racezich at Eaceste, a year after the killing at Bingham, on Feb. 19, 1909, and who went with Deputy Sheriff Jack Forbes to Ogden, when they heard that Racezich was in Ogden, trailing him to Lakeside.

The conversation between Placs and Racezich, after his arrest, while Deputy Eaches had gone to the telegranh office

Forbes had gone to the telegraph office to notify Salt Lake authorities that he had the man, was in English, Placs declared and the court held that inasmuch as it had been in such English as the Austrians speak, the interpreter would not be permitted to put and answer the questions, but that they, too, must be in English.

The specific and exact conversation was asked for by the prosecution and dramatically the sullen Austrian told of B. cezich admitting that he killed the Forbes had gone to the telegraph offl

R. cezich admitting that he killed the younger Placs and making threats against those who had run him to earth.

Racezich was placed on the stand this morning in his own defense and admitted the shooting. He declared that Placs had attacked him on the hight of the shooting with a pair of brass knuckles and beaten him brutally and that he had fired two shots during the scuffle. He testified to seeing Placs fall and to making his escape, declaring that he did not know the score of the scurrent that he ing Placs fall and to making his escape, declaring that he did not know for two months afterward that he had killed Placs.

Racezich was still on the stand at the close of the morning session when a recess was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon. His testimony is through an interpreter and he will doubtless be on the stand all afternoon. According to District Attorney Loofbourow, the case will not go to the jury before tomorrow evening.

FLOUNCES AND FRILLS. Judge Bowman Adjudicates Differences Between Girl and Chinese.

A case that fizzed with feathers and flounces, silk stockings, a mandarin coat, fancy lingerie and other things dear to the feminine heart was heard in Judge Bowman's court yesterday.

- Because Hop Sing, who runs a room-inghouse on Commercial street, be-lieved he had a right to appropriate the belongings of a boarder, who was on a vacation, he must pay Ethel Cochrane $502.20, according to a judgment entered in the city court yesterday. Although Miss Cochrane declares the wearing apparel, which Hop Sing appropriated, was worth $750, she was only able to secure the limit of a judgment in the city court, $499, which with costs, came up to the figure mentioned.

Miss Cochrane told Judge Bowman yesterday that when she returned to her room on June 1, this year, she was not permitted to enter. When she left she had a padlock fastened on the door. On her return she found that Sing had put a much larger padlock on the door and just above the one she had put on. When she asked Sing to allow her to enter the room and change her clothes, the Chinese, blandly smiled and said:

the Chinese blandly smiled and said:
"You no get um."
"But I must have my clothes," declared the woman.
"You no get um. You never get um."
Miss Cochrane then filed suit.
The judgment repays was Cochrane for the following bill of woman's wearing apparel and fixtures: One black leather trunk, one black leather hat trunk, one blue princess suit, one pink tailor suit, one white lace coat, one black suit, one set mink furs, one short mandarin coat, silk stockings, handkermandarin coat silk stockings, handker chiefs, linen, shoes, underwear, eight dresses, one silver jewel case, one silver powder box, one French mirror, pictures, bed linen, towels, one silk quilted robe, one white brocade satin under-skirt, one hat pin, one white hat and one pink hat.

A. M. MAIR ARRAIGNED. A. M. Mair, charged with burglary in the second degree was arraigned before Justice of the Peace F. M. Bishop this afternoon. He waived his preliminary hearing and his bonds were fixed at 1.000. It is alleged that Mair stole a large quantity of cigars

JUDGMENT FOR DEFENDANT.

After three days of taking testimony and hearing arguments, in the divorce case of Ada N. Winward against Samuel E. Winward, which has been bitterly contested. Judge Morse pronounced judgment yesterday as soon as the case was submitted. Mrs. Winward had charged her husband with cruelty toward their 15-year-old boy but Judge Morse held that the evidence would not support this charge and rendered judgment for the defendant

TWO SEEK DIVORCE. Charging non-support, Adeline Grif-fin has filed suit in the Third district court asking for divorce from Reuben

S. Griffin. The parties were married in January, 1994, and two children have been born to them. Marie Shroeder, married to Henry T. Shroeder in Council Bluffs, Ia., Nov. 4, 1997, asks the Third district court for a divorce on the charge of non-support. She sets forth that never has the defendant furnished her with more than $10 a month for her personal expenses, which amount, she avers, is insufficient. She declares she was forced to go to work to make money enough for her personal needs and that during the past four months she has had to seek the assistance of friends and relatives.

WAIVE PRELIMINARY The case of the Majestic Amusement company, charged with stealing elec-tricity from the Utah Light & Railway company by use of a "jumper," came up before Justice of the Peace F. M. Bishop this morning. A denurrer was filed to the complaint which was over-ruled. The defendants then waived the preliminary hearing and the waived the preliminary hearing and the case was set for Jan. 6 for trial.

NEFF LOSES HIS GUN.

John Neff, a painter, faced Judge John Neff, a painter, faced Judge Whitaker yesterday afternoon on the double charge of being drunk and carrying a concealed weapon. Neff pleaded guilty to both charges and explained that he had been held up and carried a gun for self-protection. He was discharged after the court had confiscated his gun.

HOLMES FOUND GUILTY.

Charles Holmes, an ex-convict was found guilty of petit larceny yesterday afternoon in, Judge Whitaker's court and was sentenced to serve a 60-day jail sentence. Holmes was charged with stealing tools valued at $20 from the store of D. D. Davis, 68 south West Temple street. On taking the stand in his own behalf, Holmes accused the prosecution of "framing up" the evidence against him.
